BENEFIT OF ROYAL JELLY

Royal jelly is known as one of the most effective compounds in traditional and modern medicine in the world, the presence of fatty acid (hydroxymethyl acid-10) and MRGP1-9 proteins in royal jelly, cause to therapeutic effects such as improving the function of the immune system, Increasing physical strength in people who are weak ,prevention and treatment of cancer. Royal jelly is known as the only natural compound in the world that contains adenosine monophosphate (AMP), this compound plays the main role in the transfer of energy in body cells; The presence of hormonal compounds such as testosterone in Royal jelly improves the sexual power and fertility of men, and the presence of acetylcholine increases the strength of the body's muscles, and that is why it has attracted the attention of athletes.

WHAT IS ROYAL JELLY?

Royal jelly is a combination that is produced by the submandibular glands of worker bees to feed the queen, and the queen doubles her bodysize and lives forty times longer than other bees just by eating royal jelly. Beekeepers use special methods to stimulate the bees to produce more royal jelly so that they can produce and harvest it. The remarkable thing about royal jelly is that there are proteins, fatty acids, enzymes and special hormonal compounds , which are rarely found in edible substances in the world.
